Special School

Scoil Aonghusa is a school which, with the approval of the Minister for Education, provides an education exclusively for students with a category or categories of special educational needs specified by the Minister and does not discriminate in relation to the admission of a student who does not have the category of needs specified.

4. Categories of Special Educational Needs catered for in the school/special class

Scoil Aonghusa with the approval of the Minister for Education, provides an education exclusively for students with;

➤ Moderate General Learning Disability

A pupil with a moderate general learning disability is likely to display significant delay in reaching developmental milestones. These pupils may have impaired development and learning ability in respect of basic literacy and numeracy, language and communication, mobility and leisure skills, motor co-ordination and social and personal development.

Many pupils with moderate general learning disabilities may have difficulties with the length of time for which they can concentrate on activities, with generalising and transferring knowledge across situations and with processing input from more than one sense at a time.

Insofar as IQ (Intelligence Quotient) may be used as an indicator of moderate general learning disability, such pupils' cognitive functioning's range from IQ 35 to 50 on standardised IQ tests. Many pupils may have accompanying impairments such as physical, hearing or visual impairment, autistic spectrum disorders (ASDs) and emotional disturbance or impairment in communication skills. Remember that each pupil is different – what works for one may not work for another.

➤ Severe to Profound GLD

Pupils with severe to profound general learning disabilities are likely to be severely impaired in their functioning in respect of a basic awareness and understanding of themselves, of the people around them and of the world they live in.

Many of these pupils will have additional disabilities such as autistic spectrum disorders (ASDs), challenging and/or self-injurious behaviour, emotional disturbance, epilepsy, hearing impairment, physical impairment, severe impairment in communication skills and visual impairment. Insofar as IQ (Intelligence Quotient) may be used as an indicator of general learning disability,

A pupil with a severe general learning disability is described as having an IQ in the range 20 to 35 on standardised IQ tests, and a

A pupil with a profound general learning disability is described as having an IQ under 20.

Pupils with severe to profound general learning disabilities exhibit a wide and diverse range of characteristics, including a dependence on others to satisfy basic needs such as feeding and toileting, difficulties in mobility, problems with generalising skills from one situation to another, significant delays in reaching developmental milestones and significant speech and/or communication difficulties. Some pupils may have associated behavioural problems. Pupils may have limited communication skills and will therefore not have control of the multiple means by which other students communicate such as speech, body language, facial expressions and print. Each pupil is an individual what works for one may not work for another.

➤ Autism Spectrum Disorder

Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) is a neurological, developmental disorder which effects how people with ASD communicate, socialise and interact with others. It is also characterised by restrictive, repetitive behaviours, interests and activities.

Pupils with a diagnosis of ASD should have an I.Q score within the range of categories that the school caters for.

Scoil Aonghusa will consider pupils with an I.Q score in the range of 50 to 69 taking into account the level and degree of severity of their Autism symptoms and the ability of the school to provide an appropriate education for the individual pupil.

This criteria also applies to pupils attending the Early Intervention Class – Aonghusa Beag.

Note for schools: The act does not require schools and special classes providing for a category or categories of special educational needs to change their current status. The current arrangements in relation to the category or categories of special educational needs provided by schools will continue as in previous years unless otherwise directed by the NCSE or the Department.
